

Constance M. Kehoe is a 1969 graduate of Vassar College, and received a Master's in Teaching degree from Wesleyan University, Middletown, CT. She lived in South Bend, Indiana from fourth grade through twelfth grade, where a high school social studies teacher sparked her love of all things historic and her college major was, no surprise, history.

Public service began for Constance in 2009 when she was first elected as Village Trustee in Irvington, NY. She continues – 11 years later - to serve as Trustee and Deputy Mayor in Irvington. She had retired from her own educational sales and consulting business, Literacy Warehouse, in 2007 after a stimulating 20-year career.

As an elected Village Trustee in Irvington, New York, over the last eleven years, Constance has supported many initiatives, some of critical importance to the protection of the historic character of Irvington. In 2014 she helped move the Irvington Historic District application through to successful State and National recognition. In 2017, she championed the adoption of the “Irvington Historic District Design Guide and Recommendations” a critical reference tool for the public and the Village Boards.

In 2017 she was honored by the Irvington Historical Society, for her contributions and received special recognition by State Senator Andrea Stewart-Cousins and others.

The path to becoming President and a director of Revolutionary Westchester 250, Inc. began first by her dismay that the public had little knowledge that the Washington-Rochambeau Trail bisected the entire Village of Irvington.

In 2017 she then championed the inclusion of a new granite plaque at the renovated Irvington Veterans Memorial Plaza recognizing the military service of each of the early Dutch, English and French tenant farmers who were critically important to the Patriots' cause. The organization of the research on the 9 families, done primarily by her Irvington colleague Dr. Erik Weiselberg, led to their partnership, which in 2018 become RW250.

She works in coordination with Westchester County and serves as “special liaison” for the planning of the 250th commemoration, and with the New York State Historian as a member of the Rev NY250 Working Group. Through her efforts RW250 has received funding from the County of Westchester and was also awarded a grant from the Hudson River Valley

Greenway. In 2021 she provided background information that was useful to the state legislators who developed and unanimously passed the New York State 250th Commemoration Act. RW250 is a 501(c) 3 not-for-profit charity whose Advisory Committee includes Senator and Majority Leader Andrea Stewart-Cousins and Westchester County Executive George Latimer who serves as the Honorary Chairperson.
